Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.

Have you ever studied in a foreign country? These days many student study in a foreign country. It became a trend. Of course, it is good for them to study in a foreign country. It brings good opportunities to many students.

They can experience diverse culture. They can meet people who come from another county. They all have another customs and personality. It will help them to understand each other. Also, they can learn about another culture.

In these reasons, It will become a good chance to them. They can experience a lot of things besides study. It will operate a good adventage for future. If you have enough time to spend for study, you should go abroad as soon as possible.
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

My friend James makes me happy everyday. I met him about three months ago at the ELC for the first time. We are classmate. When I talked with him first time, I could feel he is so kind. I couldn't close with him first, but one day we hung out together after that day we did best friend. When I am with him, he always funny joke and tell me interesting story, So I never feel boring. And even if I make bad situation, he never angry with me. In addition, he always encourage me. When I feel depress, he used to try to make better for me. I will keep in touch with him after I go back to Korea. I will not forget him. In these reasons, I really like my friend James.
In my personal opinion it depends. In one hand, it is better when students spend at least one semester studyin in a foreign country, because they can learn a lot of thing there, especially about the culture. But on the other hand, students should have the choice to choose what where they want to study and specific time that they prefer, not just because a University or College said that they need to do at least one semester in a foreign country. There are three situations that students feel uncomfortable with this requirement such as talking about their families and friends.

First of all, the most uncomfortable situation that a student can feel is homesick. Families are very important for a person who is going to start a College or a dream career. When a students have their families living together of close to them, they feel more able to do things. For example, my oldest sister lived alone in the united States, another Country, since she was 16 years old. She needed to do everything by herself and so far way from her family, because of this, she felt very homesick. However, she did her best at her English course and got to start her College even though there were obstacles. Sfter this, I moved to the united states too, so my family decided to move with me and live together. I knew that living alone without my family would be a difficult experience and maybe disturb me in my future College. In Brazil, Universities and Collages normally require their students to study a short period of time in another Country and when they come back, they can get a good job. However, it is not easy being so far from your family and surem your friends.

Secondly, it is very hard to move from your city and live in another Country without your friends. Imagine the situation, you need to make other friend and speak another language at the same time, so it is not easy, especially when you are a teenager and jus finished your High School recently. For example, I have a lot of friends in my city in Brazil, and I needed to move to Provo, Utah. I am without my friends here even though I made others here, but it is not the same. I am still learning English to pass to a College here in United States. So these types of thing are not easy for my life, nevertheless, I know that I can get a really good job and study in a great Universuty if I do my best. Universities and Collagescan require students to study in a foreign Country, however, they need to think if it is really important because it can disturb students lives.

In conclusion, the statement "College and Universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country" can change lives. But also be a bad and good
A very happy person that makes me feel good is my father. He is the best dad ever for me, because when I feel sad or when I have some problems in my life, he is the first person to help me without judgments. For example, when I was really stressed in the last semester because I needed to skip more than three levels, I asked a blessing to my dad and he blessed me. Another example is, when I need to buy something expensive, he always talk with me and ask: is it really essential for you right now? Do you really need to buy it? Why you need it? So, these things show me that he care so much about me. Because of this, I could do my test very well and skip three levels at the ELC. My father taught me how to trust in myself even though people say that I am not able to reach my goals. Since I was a little kid, I always believe that my father is like a hero for me and a positive influence for my personal life. Therefore, he is the specific person in the world who makes me feel always good.
College and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country for specific reasons, including learning a foreign language, acquire a different perspective, and be part of a multicultural environment.

First, attending colleges and universities does not have only the purpose of acquiring knowledge but it has the purpose of acquiring the knowledge that is necessary for the globalized world. Having the opportunity to participate in a study abroad provides students with the opportunity to learn a different language, one of the main tools to communicate with people from different countries. Technology made the world a flat place, this means that distance and differences are diminished, comparing with the ones in the past. Specifically, English is the main language that is used in the world. It is significant for students to master this language in order to access to significant information. For example, one student from Stanford created a website, coursera, which is available to students for free. The goal of this website is to provide classes from the best universities in the world, such as Yale, La Sapienza, Harvard, Stanford, and to give a free access to some of their classes belonging to different areas. Furthermore, 608 classes are in English and only 2 in Japanese, and Italian. As a consequence, to have access to the most relevant information students need to acquire English as a second language.

Second, acquiring a second language means to gain a different perspective and a different perspective allows people to have different problem- solution skills. When a student goes in a different country, usually will meet a culture shock or a clash culture. Nobody will understand the student at the beginning. Not only the wrong pronunciation of a word can lead to misunderstanding but also a different social norms. While in a culture being direct can be a sign of honesty in another culture can be unpolite. As a consequence, when students participate to a study abroad, they have the opportunity to stretch their brain and to blow their mind by starting to think differently. Think in a different perspective is a very valuable skill. When people from different cultures meet, they can enrich each other by sharing new perspectives. To reach this goal, every student need to understand that each individual has been taught differently. As a consequence, students will learn that every culture is valuable, every person has something important to say.

Third, being in a foreign country usually means also be part of a multicultural environment. A multicultural environment can be even more valuable that learning a different language. In a multicultural environment students can learn by interacting with each other. This experience are usually very remarkable, because learning by observing and encountering other cultures can affect students life and academic performance. For example, students can learn from the asiatic culture that silence is precious and the skill of listening is very valuable in an academic setting and in the real life. In addition, if we consider a different culture as a different skill to learn, by being in a foreign country students can learn a language and different skills.

In conclusion, colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country, to acquire a language that is essential to read or study significant information, to gain a different perspectives and valuable skills.
A person that always makes me feel good is my grandmother. She is a very simple woman. She grew up in a time when education was not possible to achieve. As a consequence, she is always very happy for little things. The main things that she does is cooking, serve others, and teach others to be peaceful.

First, my grandmother is Italian and cooking is the main activity that she does during the day. She usually wakes up early and starts to make fresh pasta for the family. She selects ingredients accurately. Ingredients need to be fresh. She goes personally to select them from the local farmer. Selecting the food is not only a way to provide healthy food for the family but is also a social moment, the quality time spent with the family.

Second, she always serves others, she called them and she brings food to them.

She had a positive affect on me because she helped me to appreciate the opportunity I have had to gain my education, she have taught me to avoid conflicts and search for peace by underestimating differences and not judged or reject others. Most of everything her example helped me to understand more about life, she would not speak much, but her example just helped me to follow her and I realized the person she is only when I became an adult.

In conclusion, her example helped me to be the person I am. There is no better school than doing what is right. She didn't have the opportunity to go to school in a long term but she had a talent on making feel others good and loved. In her house there is always a place and food for everybody.

In conclusions, these are the reasons why she affected my life.
Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.

Any Reason why the Universities Should Require Student go a Foreign Country.

There are so many reason why the universities shoulds require student go a foreign countries. The principal reason is for all the win this student with this new experience, how can grow up and improve in all steps in yours life, and how improve the relation with other people with other culture and lifes.

The first reason is to go at other country for studie is the new experience the studient can have. When i talk about experience, talk about knowless, relation with other student, teachers, and people in this process in other country, inside this experience is i knowless about food customs and and different culture in a new country. This is a big oportunity if the university put like requiere i think is a good oportunity for have all this cacaracteristic.

The second reason is how this oportunity can grow up, improve in all steps in your life. Have a relation with people in a different culture you are custom, to help like person and make madurity to infront different event in your life. i think in this case yo can grow up the two different way: profesionally and like people, and the two are very important for the life and will help all the life in all desiccions. In conclusion, go for other country and learn make a big person in all way.

The last reason is improve a relation with other people, with other culture and life. I think this point is very great and sometimes is the most hard, because met new people is essay but keep calm, keep a good actitud all the time with the difference between culture, custom and caracterest is hard, I think whe the people can keep a good relation with other people the other countries and diferents things and custom is when grow up and improve in a relation with other people, and this does not have just the result like in dary life if not too in the work in your future life, because when your imporve your relation with other people, you grow up like person and this never forget.

In conclusion, i am completly agree with the idea of to be require for the university the syudent study a foreing country, In my opinion is very good idea and the reason the new exerience, can grow up and improve in all steps in your life, and how imporve the relation with other people with other culture and life are great reason for have a better life.
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

Someone Special For me

There are so many people important in our life, but always there is one special about the other. In my case this is my mom, because she is a special woman sweet and very worried for me and my family, and good person.

She is example for follow.

The First reason is she always have a smile, a word and attitude make her a special woman. She always know when happen anything in my life, sometime I don't need explain, just with look me or hear my voice she know, and always is there for give me a smile a word. In conclusion is a special woman because dose not need explain always is there for me, and make me happy.

The second reason she is a very worried for my family and me, always need feel make we happy with little details, she is very worried for all in my house and sometimes have a big troubles but always my brother, my nieces and my are most important. I am shure if she can give all for our happiness she dose not dude. In conclusion she is very good person.

In conclusion the best people in the world for me is my mom, because she make me feel good always and is very special because always give me a smile a word and is worried f
Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? “Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country.” Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.

Students have a great potential to learn more and different things. Colleges and universities are always trying to help students and make them to do their best during the years that they study there. For colleges and universities do their best to help students, they should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country for three major reasons.

First, experience in other country help students to have other vision about the world. When students go to other country to study, they get to know many different parts of real life. They can learn about different cultures, government and the situation of the country. Their vision about the world starts to change because they start to understand how the world works in different countries. Having a different and more real vision about the world can help them in their lives being more mature. Studying in another countries can help students.

Next, the new experience can bring benefits to their future family. Students going to other country can help themselves in how they coordinating their own lifes. Going to other country, they would need to learn another language. They would need to administrate their lives for goal that they want. It can help their future family because they would already have the way that they want to follow. Their families would have a better way, and getting to know experiences from other countries. Study in another country can bring significants consequences for their future families.

Finally, when you study in other country, new opportunitues look to you. Studying in other country can bring experiences that staying in your own country would never bring. Because of that, new opportunitues of new jobs can appear. Companies are always interested in people that have more knowlogede and moments in life that made them learn. When people that studied in other country go to an interview, this person already have a job. Sometimes experiences are more value than perfect scores. Students that studied in another country have more opportunities of jobs.

To conclude, study in another country can bring awesome benefits to students for change their vision about the world, to help their future families, and for them have more opportunities in jobs. Studying in other country makes difference in student’s lives that they cannot imagine. Colleges and universities should always require that their students study in other country for benefits of the students and future geneations.
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

A person that is always helping me is my boyfriend. My boyfriend is a really special person who cares about me. He is every time talkin to me and askin if I need something, if I need help. When I need his help, I just need to call him, and he is ready to answer me. He is able to stop everythin that he is doing, just to help me. The best part is that I know that he is ready to help every person that aks his help, so I know that he does it because he is able to love people. His influence for me is truly positive. After I saw his example, to help people start to be easier for me. His influence started to make me think more about people, and because of that, I decided my major in psychology. I know that helping people with problems that they have in their lives will be so wonderful. I am going to be able to serve them all the time. My boyfriend helped me with this progress and decision in my life. He makes me feel good all the time because we are not thinking about our own needs, but other people's needs. My boyfriend is the person that is always helping me.
Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.

There are many reasons to be agree with the followning statement about students should be requiered to spend one semester in a foreign country. In the majoriy of cases universities has a assosiation with other universities from differntes contries to give the opportunity to stdudents who wants to study in other country, but no all the stuudents have the enought resources or money to take this opportunity. For that reason students need to be more responsables and they have to do all the possible things to study in a foreign country. They can work and study, make a budget to the bank, or apply to a scholarship.

First of all, they need to put the best effort working and studying. If they want to progress as a succesful person, they have to do many sacrifices, for example, They can save money working really hard and study all they classes. Altought, they are young students, the resposability all the time have to be the most important thing for their. When they learn to waste their time in somethings really important, the life is going to become easier for them. When they take this good way to think about their time and money, they are starting to be responsable.

Second, if they do not able to work a lot, make a budget with their bank or apply to get a schoolarship could be the best option. they need to find the help that they need to start school in other country. Some time is hard because they are so young and they do not have records in bank or somethings like that situation, but in some cases the goverment is helping to the students to the schoolarship, it occur when the student make the best effort that they can and they recieve the blessing to get this opportunity to go to other country and study at least one semester.

In conclusion, when the students make the best effort that they can do to get a good opportunities like study in other contry, they only have to find the resources and take them. Likewise, if they find it, they need to put in order their ideas and countinue developing their skills. They can recieve help from differents ways, to study in other country where they are going to learn a lot about differents cultures. Some times they need to work and study and the same time but in the end all this situaton pay off.
There are many reasons to say that my boyfriend is a really good influence in my life. First of all, he is a very kind and honest person, the most important thing for me is that he loves God and all the time we are sharing about the gospel, the good blessings that we can receive from the Lord if we keep the commandments. Second, I was talking with my mom about him and she agrees with me about him, for me it is really important the opinion from my mom because the mothers all the time have the reason in these cases. Finally, we have many goals as a couple for example read the Book of Mormon and learn more about the gospel. In conclusion, having the opportunity to meet this guy is a really good experience for me, maybe he wants to be my future husband.
In my opinion, I agree. Why agree about should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country? If you do not at least, you are very tired. When I was spend many study life, it was very hard. You should spend a relax time.

First reason, your brain is very tired. My teacher said, "You were many time study hard, your body so tired as same as your brain was tired, too." I think so too. If you do not take a spend at least one semester studying, your brain is very stressful. But if you take a least your brain is relax. So, refresh is important for your study. When I was in Tokyo, Japan, I was very busy. But I had a relax time for sleep. After that, my body and mind were refresh and clear. You should spend a least time one semester study in a foreign country.

Second reason, you should make a good experience. Because, good experience is help for your next new semester. For example, Provo has many nature and many good activity. You can try it! Beautiful nature is help you, because deep breath in the forest has a power of change. When I was tired, I often ride my bike then go outside. When I was felt wind and fresh, these are help for me. Also, activity of out help me. And if you go campout, you can get a good memory. Your experience become precious memory and good energy for your mind. You can do get experience and activity is important for should require their students to spend at least one semester study in a foreign country.

In conclusion, students should spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Because your brain was tired and good experience help for your next semester. If your take a least
My opinion is makes me feel good merson is kindness person. Why kindness people is best? Now I live six people in my apartment. Everybody so kind for me. I was started the student the ELC. I did not understand everything and I don know about Provo. But they were hlpe me about how was provo, and how to use the facility in the ELC. I want to become like my roommete. Also, kindness people is hardwoker. My opinon is kindness people is good! In conclusion, kindness p
I'm agree this statement universities, is very important, I like help in because my progress, and is very important to go to the universities, to prepare for the life, my semester in the country is very interesting we went to go more place, and we have more friends in the universities.

I like to study because we have more opportunity we went to work, and we have you family and you help you children, in the life you need to study a lot, in this time you have more oportunidad.

The school you help in every time is agree, we can study in the different places we need to go to the colleges, the consequences do you no have more opportunities and no prepare for the life and more experiences of more things in this time you need to study...
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

He have a short heard, and is very tall is very funny is from argentina, he helping in everting with my english. for my life and is very importan for my positive influence because is a member of morman and have a the sime ideal and he servis one mision, every day he tall me somenting funny, he like the same thinks and he like to go swining, and every day we learning about the jesus christ and very intersting, this person is very importan for my life,
Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.

Nowadays many universities and colleges are considering the idea to require to their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. For some students that may seem as an absurd idea that just represents a high cost, waste of time, and not significant for their careers. However, researchers have shown how important and crucial will be for students to study abroad. Studying for at least one semester in other country helps student to expand their knowledge, interact with other students and culture, and finally to have better job opportunities in a long-term.

When students decide to study in other countries they have the opportunity to increase their knowledge not only in their areas of study, it also helps them to learn about the conditions surrounding the foreign country and how their careers work or are studied in the country. Students who study in other places are able to have a better understanding about different scenarios. For example, a student of international business develops a better analysis about a study case if he knows how business works not only in his native country but also how it works on other parts of the world. Moreover, some students not only learn things related to their careers but they also learn a new language. For example, if a student from USA travels to Brasil, he would be forced to learn Portuguese. Considering that learning the language of the country will lead him to understand the culture. Studying in other country helps students to expand their knowledge and learn a new language.

Another advantage of studying in a foreign country is that students are involved in a new culture with the opportunity to interact with different people than them and establish new connections. A student from Africa will have a different work environment than a student of Mexico. This cultural interaction will help students to prepare to work in a moder globalize world. As we know, nowadays everything is based on globalization and students need to be prepared to face this reality. Being able to coexist with different cultures prepare students to work where ever they want and have friends all around the world.

Finally, an important long term effect of studying in a foreign country is the idea of having access to better job opportunities. Today, having a good job depends not only of the theoretical knowledge, it also depends on the experience and competitiveness that a person is able to show. All the knowledge that a university provides is not enough, but with the complementary education and experience students receive in a foreign country help a student to be competent and get extraordinary jobs. The supply of job market is limited and only the students who have an expanded curriculum will succeed. Studying in a foreign country is the key to create a better curriculum. Clearly, the decision of invest mony and time in one semester studying in a foreign country benefits immediately and in long-term directly to the student.

In conclusion, studying in a foreign country requires a lot of sacrifice. However, it has impact immediate an long-term effects on students. It would help them to be more prepare to face the future, to increase their knowledge in different areas, to have better job opportunities, and to expand their social/cultural circle.
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

If someone asked me who my favorite person in the world is, I would absolutely say my mother. She is an incredible lady that has helped me through my life. Besides being a good mother, she is an amazing teacher, cook, nurse, psychologist, and business woman. I always have looked at her as the best example I could have asked for. She represents a brilliant guide in my life because every time I'm going through a difficult time I think how she would fix it. It doesn't matter how far we will be from each other, it would not break the connection we have built through these 23 years. Since I was born she has taken care of me and I can't describe the infinite things she has done for me, especially when I was growing up, my mother gave me her time, love, and patience. Her dedication and knowledge represents who I am now. She is not only my mother she is the rock that helps me to be a better person.
Students can spread their knowledge if they can get the chance to study in different countries. For this reason colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country. Because they can acquire more knowledge by studying and also by their experience.

If the students can get the chance to study in a foreign country it will be very beneficial for them. They can learn from different lessons, teachers, technology and also from other students. For an instance, if the students go to a foreign country for study they will learn about different technology and lessons. In my country we usually don’t use computers in order to learn but when I came here learned about many computer programs and I learned how to use them. In every test we use computer here but in my country we don’t use computers. So I think here I am facing different experience and I am developing my knowledge and my potentials to achieve my goals. Therefore, the students can broaden their knowledge by using different technology if they go outside from their country for study.

Another benefit is if the students go to a foreign country they can gather new experience from their environment and also from the people. People learn more from the practical life than from the books. So it will be more beneficial for the future of the students if they get the opportunities to know and can experience different situation of a different country. They can know about different cultures, traditional factors or events, economic factors, etc. For an example, if the students of my country come here for study. They can extend their knowledge about different cultures and they can broaden their knowledge from their experience. They can know how about the situation and other factors. Hence, it is very essential for the students to become strong and confident for their future by their experience.

In addition, the students can know about the better opportunities for their future. When they will go to a foreign country they will introduce with new people. Sometimes they will meet with more skillful teachers and specialists and they can get more knowledge from them. In future they can contact with them if the students need them. So their social network strongly build up through this and it will support them in their future.

In another way, the students can also each other by sharing their individuals knowledge. If they go to a foreign country they will meet with other students. Their knowledge and mentality are not same. Maybe somebody is expert in something and other is more experienced in other things. So they can share their strength and weakness with each other. Through this way they can help each other to develop their skills and potentials. They can make their future better and successful.

In summary, I think the colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country to broaden their knowledge. They can learn more through different environment, technology, v
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

People have very essential affect in our life. They can make us happy and they can make us also sad. In my life my mother is first and important person, who can encourage me and can support me when i need her. My mother can understand my feelings that's why she know how to handle with my feelings. She can guide me in an effective way and can lead me to achieve my goals. Everytime when i feel like a losser my mother support me and she shows me my skills and my potentials. She is a hard worker therefore, she always encourage me to work hard to achieve my goals. Moreover, she has patience and she always teaches me to have patience. Because we have to wait and work hard to achieve our goals. She is a honest person and she motivates me how to become a nice person with the honesty. If i cry my mother is the person who can make me happy. She knows me very well hence, she can hold me and support me as I need. I love my mother so much. In adition, my mother can make me feel good. She is a perfect person who knows about my weakness and strengthens. So she can guide me. She can support me to feel happy and make my life better.
Prompt: Do you agree or disagree with this statement? “Colleges and universities should require their students to spend at least one semester studying in a foreign country.” Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion and describe the potential immediate and long-term consequences of this opinion.
Prompt: Describe a person that always makes you feel good. What does this person do? How do they help you? Why are they a positive influence?

Mi personalty is very positive, I am friadely and very fun. I am love known fiends new. I like people help, is very import known the nedd